Former Prizefighter, Mentioned in Baseball Scandal, Said to Have Come Here

Abe Attell, the former featherweight champion of the world, and now one of the central figures in the baseball scandal expose, is reported to be "somewhere in Phfladelphia' today. Attell is seeking seclusion from his usual haunts in New York and also conferring with his attorneys in view of per-sistent rumors that he is to be brought directly into the expose by the Chicago

Attell has been named freely by the White Sox who have confessed to taking bribes to "throw" the last world's series as the "go between" for the gambling clique.

Just before he dropped from sight New York, Attell, when asked about scandal and his connection with it, said: "See Arnold Rothstein." Rothstein is a well-known and wealthy New York gambler, who has denied having had any connection with the unsavory mess.

Reds Won't Surrender World's Championship

Manager Pat Moran and all the Cincinnati players, without exception, declare that at the time of the world's series last year, and until now, they had no idea other than that they were winning on the level. They say that at no time was any intimation conveyed to them that any crooked work was being done. August Herrmann, president of the Reds, was asked what, under the circumstances now laid bare, the club was going to do about the title it won last year.

"Will you surrender the championship or do you still consider your claim to victory beyond dispute?" Mr. Herrmann was asked. He replied:

"I have never given such a ridiculous question any thought. We won the National League pennant fairly and squarely, and had to beat team or two to do it that were stronger than the White Sox, playng at their best and on the level. We could not hand the pennant back to the Sox, simply because they did not try to win it, and what is more, we believe firmly that we would have beaten them had every man on Comiskey's team played the string out and on the

Are You Contented

with film-coated teeth? If not, do this

All statements approved by authorities

Your teeth are now film-coated, more or less. The film perhaps is cloudy, so the teeth are dim.

Look at them-do they glisten as they should? Do they feel clean? If not, try this new method and remove that film.

That film does this:

Film is that viscous coat you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. The ordinary tooth paste does not end it. Brushing does not keep teeth free.

Month after month it may linger to do a ceaseless damage. Most tooth troubles are now traced to film. And, despite the tooth brush, they are constantly increas-

It is the film-coat that discolors, not the teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Years devoted to it

Dental science has for years sought to end that film. Its baleful effects make it supremely important.

Ways have now been found to fight film. Authorities have proved them beyond question. Leading dentists everywhere now advise their daily use.

All these methods are combined in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. Millions already employ it, largely by dental advice. And a 10-Day Tube is being sent to thousands of new homes daily, on request.

Five desired effects

Pepsodent brings five desired effects. And its effects repeat themselves with every application.

One ingredient is pepsin. Another multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva, to digest starch deposits that cling. It also multiplies the saliva's alkalinity, to neutralize the acids which cause tooth

Two factors directly attack the film. One of them keeps teeth so highly polished that film cannot easily adhere. Pepsodent protects the teeth as nothing else has done.

You'll quickly know

Some results are almost instant. A week reveals conspicuous effects. The good it does cannot be doubted long.

Send the coupon for the 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the fixed film disappears. And how Nature's tooth protecting agents are increased.

A book we send will tell the reasons. Then you'll know, beyond all question, what is best for you and yours.
